

CALL FOR EXTERNAL CONSULTANTS

Who we are?

The Alliance for Responsible Mining (ARM) is a Colombian-based non-profit organization with 20 years of experience working to transform artisanal and small-scale mining (ASM) into a legitimate, profitable, socially and environmentally responsible activity. ARM has worked in more than 35 countries and is currently developing projects in Africa, Asia, Latin America, Central America and the Caribbean.

What kind of external consultants are we looking for?

As a world leader and expert in artisanal and small-scale mining, ARM is in the process of updating its database of external consultants with the aim of having profiles that adapt to the development of future projects in the organization. Our interest is focused on experts in mining issues, particularly in artisanal and small-scale mining (ASM).

At the technical level, we are looking for professionals in mining and environmental engineering (and related professions), topography, forestry engineering, hydrology, geology, environmental professionals with a focus on conservation or strategic minerals and critical minerals for the energy transition, renewable energy professionals, and geographic information systems professionals, ideally with experience in ASM, working in rural areas, field work, knowledge of environmental and technical issues related to mercury removal, traceability, and occupational safety and health.

In the social areas, we are interested in professionals with training in social sciences, political science, sociology, professionals with an ethnic focus (Afro and indigenous), or in archaeology and related professions, with experience in ASM, working with rural communities, organizational strengthening, human rights and gender.

In administrative areas, we are looking for profiles with experience in relationship building, stakeholder mobilization, advocacy, financial inclusion, financial statement analysis with a focus on money laundering and terrorist financing risks, supply chain logistics of various minerals, ESG criteria and SDG, and experience in international cooperation projects.

It is important to clarify that this is not a recruitment call. Our goal is to update our database of consultants with knowledge and experience in the above areas of interest and intervention of ARM, which may or may not lead to projects and consulting in the future.
